

P.A.C.E. SAFETY UPDATE

Season to fall back but stay alert.

November 6th, we set our clocks back to due to the daylight savings time. With daylight savings time, the daily routine of REALTORS® maybe altered because of shortness of daylight. Here are some tips to make sure you stay alert during daylight savings time and keep with the P.A.C.E.

1. If you work in an office, make sure you leave together in a group (least two people).
2. Pay close attention to your surroundings. Look around before entering your car.
3. Avoid any distractions such as talking on the phone or texting when you are leaving
4. Have your keys and cellphone in hand when walking to your car. Make sure your personal safety app is on like Guard Llama (<http://guardllama.com/>) so you can have access to law enforcement.
5. If you feel uneasy about a property showing, call law enforcement to survey the area while you are there.
6. Remember the NWMAR building is a Safe Harbor location that is open during business hours to meet new clients.
7. Find alternative routes home.
8. Make sure you schedule showing during the daytime but if you have one that runs long contact someone at the office and tell them your location.
